Retraditioning Ourselves

by Dr. R. Glen Miles

Mark Nepo, in his book, The Exquisite Risk, says that living an authentic life, becoming the person that God has created you to be, means that “there is always the need to risk being new.”

Risking something new might be one of the most difficult things we are asked to do in our lives. It does not matter if it is sports, business, church, family or politics; the risk of living in a new way is almost always a threat to our comfort zones.

This idea of being willing to risk something new is not limited to spiritual writers like Nepo. Diana Butler Bass’ book, The Practicing Congregation, is written for mainline churches. She recognizes that mainline congregations, churches like ours, are facing tough times. Her book is focused on how to help great, traditional congregations like ours recover and renew its life in the Spirit of God.

She writes that the ones that are able to do this are willing to retradition themselves. What does that mean? “Retraditioning,” she writes, “implies reaching back to the past, identifying practices that were an important part of the past, and bringing them to the present where they can reshape contemporary life. In this mode, congregations will tend toward reflexivity ... reflection ... and risk taking.”

Mark Nepo and Diana Butler Bass both recognize that with that renewal there is risk.

At the heart of the spiritual practices is the desire to grow larger in our love of God and each other. Christian renewal begins with keeping Jesus’ life and teaching at the center. What did he say? “Love God, Love your neighbor.” Jesus will help us focus on the center and that focus can lead to a retraditioning of our ministry and shared faith.

Grace and peace to you,

Coming in February

This year during lent, we invite you to join us on a spiritual journey by choosing a path of study or reflection which will help you better connect with the Spirit, your church, and the significance of the season. In recognition of the sacred nature of Lent, the church will focus all of its energy on worship, study and fellowship, forgoing all business-related meetings. The Lenten spiritual offerings include Sacred Conversations (see page 2).

If traditional Bible Study is not for you, consider Bible Workbench. This creative and interactive approach brings a refreshing look at how real life and ancient scriptures intersect in surprising ways. Designed to enhance the spiritual journey through Lent, participants will reflect on the scripture that Dr. Miles will preach about that week during worship. A workbook provides thought-provoking questions, background information and excerpts from current literature that echo the themes. Workbook cost is $25 but library copies are available. Men's Group – Wednesday 7:30-9:00 a.m., Jeff Zimmerman; Thursday Morning Group – 9:30-11:00 a.m., Carla Aday; Sunday Morning Group – 8:45 -9:50 a.m., Anna Tolar; Tuesday Night Group – 7:00-8:30 p.m.; Sunday Night Group – 5:00-6:30 p.m., Chancel Choir Group, Lynn Cockle; Adult Sunday School Classes – Several of the adult Sunday School classes will participate during their Sunday morning class time.

Class facilitators are Clayton Hasser and Lauren Weinhold, both Disciple Bible Study veterans. Books cost $10. Tuesday evenings, Feb. 23-Apr. 13, 7:00-8:30 p.m.

Live with Passion

by Justin Zeigler, Director of Middle School Ministries

I know this sounds ridiculous, but I wish I lived in a musical. I wish that I had witty writers scripting my life. I wish that every few moments someone would express their deepest thoughts in song. I wish there were times when people would break out into choreographed dance with the skills of dancers who have been working their entire lives. I know this isn't going to happen. The last time I went to a musical, and you have permission to laugh, I started crying as soon as the lights dimmed to start the show. There is something about watching people craft a world that is so full of emotion that it can only be expressed through song and dance that fills me with joy. In a quality performance, the emotion that is lived out on stage grabs me in my seat and demands that I experience it as well. Sitting in the audience I cease to simply view a show, I experience it. The artists on stage, with their passion, lead me to a passionate experience.

No matter how good an idea it is, I know that Dr. Miles isn't going to suddenly want to tap dance while preaching. I realistically know that when I start singing at the top of my lungs people will, and do, look at me strangely. I can't have Rodgers and Hammerstein write passionate plots for me to live out, but that doesn't mean I have to sit in my seat and simply view life.

As Christians we are called to discover and live the gospel message passionately. The gospel is a story of life, love, peace, wholeness, and passion. God is continually offering us chances to live into this story. Through the grace of God we are invited to not simply watch as the gospel is enacted for us. We are called to experience it.

You don't have to be a trained dancer to be able to move in sync with another human being in expressing your love for God in worship. If you can't carry a tune in a bucket, you can still express your feeling and thoughts with loved ones and even strangers. Even though there is no one crafting a script for you, it doesn't mean that you can't experience the beauty of walking with another person through this life.

Our call as Christians is to live, work, and love with a passion that is dramatic. My wish of being a living breathing character in a musical may never come true, but as long as I live out my calling as a Christian it doesn't need to. I still can dream, though!

January Collection Connection

Health Supplies for Nicaragua

Country Club Christian Church is sending a group to Nicaragua to provide medical and construction work to the poorest of the poor. This group will be leaving Feb. 20 and returning on Feb. 28.

As part of this trip, the group will be providing home health kits to local families. To provide the most basic of items we all take for granted for the most simple of everyday health issues. We are collecting the following items during January to take with us to Nicaragua: acetaminophen (Tylenol), ibuprofen (Advil), antacids (Tums), cough drops, antibiotic ointment (Neosporin), bandages, toothbrushes, adult vitamins, children's vitamins (no gummies – they melt), prenatal vitamins (no softgels – they melt). Our greatest needs are for prenatal vitamins (no softgels – they melt in the heat) and antibiotic ointment. These two items are among the most expensive items we take with us and are of great importance to the people we will be visiting.

Due to restrictions on what we are allowed to bring into Nicaragua, we will be purchasing soap and toothpaste in Nicaragua to include in each kit.

If you would like to donate any of the above items [Note: All expiration dates must be no earlier than March 2011], or cash to help with the purchase of items in Nicaragua, please place your items in the Parlor during the month of January.

Green Team News

Special Showing of "Food, Inc." on Feb. 5

Youth Ministries and the Green Team are cosponsoring a screening of the movie Food, Inc. on Fri., Feb. 5, at 6 p.m. in the Youth Center.

The focus of the film is the corporate food industry that controls the sourcing, processing, production and sale of food. Following the screening, Diana Endicott of Good Natured Family Farms will give a 10-minute talk about resources in the Kansas City area (such as farmers markets, supermarkets with local food) and answer questions.

Green Team Offers Coffee Grounds for Gardens

As part of the Country Club Christian Church green effort, the Green Team is making coffee grounds available for use in home gardening or composting projects. The grounds are available in the Social Hall kitchen by the coffee pots for you to take home.

Many who have viewed Food, Inc. have been motivated to seek out local and organic sources of food. Endicott is the founder and director of Good Natured Family Farms' alliance. She farms with her husband, Gary, on a 400-acre organic and 400-acre transitional farm in southeast Kansas. She has organized a farmer alliance and created a strong partnership with Balls Food Stores, a Kansas City supermarket chain of 30 stores.

Thank You from Micah

On behalf of the core team at the Micah Ministry, I want to thank you so much for your church's donation and compilation of 500 Christmas socks! We have been able to count on your labors of love and largesse for several years, and this makes all the difference as we ready to help make Christmas a true miracle for those adults and children who are so often forgotten. You played an invaluable role!

Because of your compassion, we were able to provide a truly happy beginning to Christmas to more adults than ever before. This is so important in these bleak economic times. Even the children were thrilled. One of our church members who has served the children's ministry for years told me about a little girl, age 6, who covered her eyes and cried when she received a gift. She said she was so worried that Santa would never be able to find her! Such moments make all the efforts and plans well worth it.

Delivering stockings to Independence Boulevard church.

God bless and keep faith-filled you and the Metro Mission team at Country Club Christian Church. May your own Christmases at home be very special and blessed with great joy.

Serving Christ with you,
Rev. Lee Chiaramonte, senior pastor at Independence Boulevard Christian Church and director of The Micah Ministry.

With Anticipation or Fear?

by Dr. Chuck Rolen, Interim Minister of Congregational Care

The passage of the old and the coming of the new is a constant biblical theme. The arrival of the year 2010 poses questions and opportunities. Do we come with hopeful anticipation or with fear and dread? The truth is, we choose. Whether we choose intentionally or passively, our choice ... our approach has much to do with what we experience.

In their book, The Life We Are Given, George Leonard and Michael Murphy suggest:

Like the human heart, the world points beyond itself to something greater and more beautiful than its present condition. That something attracts us all, in different ways, and leads many of us to seek transformation. As we grow in love and strength, we become vehicles for the world's growth. We bring new sustenance to our families, new joy to our friends, new light to our places of work. We enhance the physical things around us, and the earth itself.

Did you notice the part about growing in love and strength? Our Christian scriptures and tradition are absolutely clear: When Christians love, we are literally growing in our relationship with God. As we grow in God, we are strengthened and our perceptions and priorities begin to change. We grow in our sense of connectedness, community, and ministry with each other. Love transforms us. New perspectives, new vitality, new life flows through our intentional, faithful responses to love.

New realities involve change; change involves risk and uncertainty. As we face the uncertainties of life and undergo the transformation love brings, the gospel invites us to do so in hope and faith. Thomas Merton shares a timely and timeless prayer in his book, Thoughts in Solitude:

My Lord God, I have no idea where I am going; I do not see the road ahead of me, I cannot know for certain where it will end. Nor do I really know myself, and the fact that I think I am following your will does not mean that I am actually doing so. But I believe that the desire to please you does in fact please you. And I hope I have that desire in all that I do. I hope that I will never do anything apart from that desire. And I know that if I do this you will lead me by the road, though I may know nothing about it. Therefore, I will trust always though I may seem to be lost in the shadow of death. I will not fear; for you are ever with me, and you will never leave me to face my perils alone.

In the bond of faith, hope, and love as we journey into the new opportunities and potentials of 2010 ...

Chuck
